

CEE 502

Intro To Multicultural Ed.

(Formerly called - Adventures In Diversity)

Learn new ways to take advantage of your students' diversity and the richness of their cultures, races, languages, learning styles, and backgrounds. Value and celebrate differences in your students and your school community using Project Adventures' experiential educational activities built around diversity metaphors. There will be an emphasis on creating a safe place for teachers and their students to explore and discuss issues of diversity. You will leave this course with increased personal awareness about your attitudes and actions regarding diversity and equity. You will gather a host of resources to use for long range planning, and strategies to use in the classroom the very next time you meet with your students.
